

CONTADI CASTALDI

Contadi Castaldi's is dynamic tradition, as deeply linked to its roots as it is lively and contemporary, in a POP style that looks to the future while not forgetting the past. The name is a synthesis of Franciacorta's most ancient history: in medieval times, the Contadi were small territorial units renowned for excellent agricultural production, while the Castaldi were the lords who were entrusted with the government of the lands. Contadi Castaldi was born in the late 1980s, thanks to an intuition of Vittorio Moretti, who took over the old Biasca furnace building, linked to his wife Mariella's childhood memories, and converted it into a modern winery. The project kept intact the originality and linearity of the forms through a conservative restoration; in the tunnels and galleries where bricks were once fired, today rest the winery's wines. More than 170 hectares of vineyards, cultivated by talented farmers and historical winemakers, who have embraced the winery's innovative project and share its values. It is this great heritage of vineyards, capable of providing a wide range of aromas and flavors, that determines the style of Contadi Castaldi. The geological and microclimatic variations of the vineyards, the different cultivation methods, and the characteristics and varieties of the grapes are the winery's secret. This is how this winemaking heritage, representing a set of unique features, is found in the glass. Gritty and powerful cuvées that portray a forward-looking vision of the Italian know-how and an uncompromising territorial belonging.
